

TURAN ALI

Turan Ali is a multi award-winning producer, director, writer and storyteller. He has produced, directed and written over one hundred dramas, comedies and stories for the world renowned British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC), including many world premier productions. He has produced for radio, TV, theatre and film. His writing credits include comedy series, drama and political satire for the BBC plus many short stories. He was Artistic Director of Theatre Delicatessen in the United Kingdom up to September 2020, responsible for four theatres. In his solo stage storytelling, he has performed his one man shows at Vienna's English Theatre, Amsterdam's Mezrab Theatre, London's King's Head Theatre and at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival 2019 and on BBC radio. He has trained writers, producers and directors of drama, soap opera and comedy in many countries in Europe, Africa, Asia and in the USA. He delivers masterclasses and workshops on story theory and persuasive storytelling internationally and has published a manual for drama writers in German and in English "Mit Fernsehserien nachhaltig wirken ein praktisches Handbuch für Drehbuchautoren". He runs the production company Bona Broadcasting which produces drama, comedy, stories and documentaries for the BBC and runs international media training.